Users’ Satisfaction Level on Academic Library Services: A Study on Reading Habit With Special Reference to Vyasa Arts and Science Women’s College, Subramaniapuram, Sivagiri (Taluk), Tirunelveli, Tamil Nadu

Dr. Kannan K. and Avoodaiammal P.

Abstract

The paper focuses on “Academic Library is a community centre a study reading habit with special reference to Vyasa Arts & Science Women’s College, Subramaniapuram, Sivagiri (Taluk)”. Academic libraries must determine a focus for collection development since comprehensive collections are not feasible. Librarians do this by identifying the needs of the faculty and student body, the mission and academic programmes of a college, or university. When there are particular areas of specialization in academic libraries, these are often referred to as niche collections. These collections are often the basis of a special collection department, and may include original papers, artwork, and artefacts written or created by a single author, or about a specific subject. The majority of respondents indicated that the library provided effective service. They were satisfied with the lighting system, ventilation, and sufficient physical facilities were identified as major issues in the effective use of library collection and services.

Keywords: User Studies, Literacy, Academic Library, Information Seeking.