COUNSELLING

AGAM

AGAM, the centre for self-development, initiated by the College, addresses the needs and problems of the students arising out of their intrapersonal and interpersonal behaviour patterns.

AGAM

AGAM

Aim:

'AGAM' is the centre for self development. The centre addresses the needs and problems of the students arising out of their intrapersonal, interpersonal and social behaviours. It is also to help the students deal with their day to day problems, issues, crises and trauma.

Self development helps the individual to be aware of his/her full potential and guides him/her to achieve growth and success. It also helps the individual to know his/her strengths and weaknesses. By undergoing this course the student will gain in confidence and lead a refined life.

Objectives:

Some of the common issues are:

- * To analyse the problems in studies like lack of concentration, memory, attention.
- * To foster the mental health.
- * To develop strong interpersonal skill and intrapersonal skills.
- * To overcome their exam fear, anxiety, extreme fear, maladjustment, depression and addictions of various types.
- * To promote relationships in personal and family life and with social groups.

How can we verify the issues?

1. By organizing several activities, training, group discussion, lecture-cum-discussion eliciting answers through questionnaire and conducting assessment tests.

2. By organizing the workshop, seminar and training for the whole students.
